STEEL TRUST MAGNATES DERIVE PRINCELY PROFITS FROM STOCK.

New York, June 28 - Some highly interesting facts in connection with the annual incomes of well-known capitalists were brought out during the hearing of the ap-

New Jorges, this week. In the brief filed with the court, it was shown that the conversion plan was approved by ninety-nine and eighty-three one hundredths per cent of the stockholders in penl of the United States Steel Corporation in its band-conversion plan, heard before the Court of Errors and Appeals, of person or by proxy. More than 14,000 in-dividual shareholders voted in favor of the plan and thirty-five voted against it. The total per centage of stock voted in epposition to the plan, which has aroused an endless amount of discussion both in this country and in Europe, was seventeen one hundredths per cent, including that held by the complainant in the case recently heard. This was Myriam Berger, who owns 116 shares, or about our nine-hundredth of the ntire capital storn of the big Steel Trust. Nevertheless, this small minority stockholder was able to prevent the scheme by an appeal to the courts.

Interesting as these facts are, the answer filed by the counsel of the Steel Trust in the appeal shows a list of important stock-holders, all of whom voted in favor of the plan to convert $20,000,000 of preferred stock into bonds and, in addition, to issue $50,- Preferred Pays $7 Per Share. The lir of stockholders who voted in fa-vor of the plan contains the names of many prominent capitalists in this city and throughout the United States. It contains the number of shares of both common and perferred stock voted by these individuals, from which are computed their annual incomes from the Steel Trust holdings.

The dividends are at the rate of $7 a share on the preferred stock and $4 a share on the common stock.

The beginning of the movement is said to be due altogether to the widespread reports of the progress of the investigation at St. Louis. The aggressiveness of Attorney Folk, disclosing irregularities undreamed of; the convictions secured here, and the obvious fear of offenders, as evidenced by the flight of Murreil and Kratz-these things awakened Minneapolis to a similar inquisition. Little probing uncovered a municipal scandal more dramatic in its incidents than that in St. Louis! Observers of the Minneapolis disclosures say that they are part of a wave of public opinion, which is passing over the country, and which cries out for clean city administrations. Similar rigid accounting with boodlers is looked for wherever the situation demands it.

The accusations of venality in office at Minneapolis have not fallen upon the city legislature. It is not a question of "fee for franchise."

The full opprobrium of the scandal falls upon the Minneapolis Police Department. The Chief of Police must answer to an indictment. Several of the Captains are likewise charged under the law. Lieuten-ants, Sergeants, patrolmen and detectives, especially the latter, have been called on to answer for their conduct before a tribunal. The allegations are simply that the officials in the department and many sub-ordinates conspired, for their own and for the benefit of higher officials, to exact tribute from vice and crime. It is sworn that compacts were entered into between the representatives of the law and acknowl-edged breakers of the law, such as swinedged breakers of the intermediate promising immunity to the practitioners of such "professions" in consideration of a percentage of the profits paid into the coffers of the officials. It has been stated on the stand that this state of affairs has continued sev-officials. It has been stated on the stand that this state of affairs has continued several years.

Though in no sense convicted, and though the nature of the evidence against Mayor Ames has not been disclosed, upon him, as the head of the city government, falls the severest public criticism. His case was called in court last Monday. Another of the "boodle" cases was in progress at the time, and a crowd had assembled in the courtroom. He was the object of general conversation, and the center of observation as proceedings were temporarily interrupted. He plead "not guilty" and left the courtroom. He spoke to nobody, not even to former friends. Since that time he has left Minneapolis, and is now sojourning at West Baden. It is probable and time he will not be tried before the next term of court. Irwin A. Gardner, son of a wealthy and socially proud family, has been confined behind prison bars, though every effort was made to prevent it. Now, however, he is out on $10,000 bond, pending action on an appeal of his case.

The commitment of young Gardner to jall—he is in the twenties, handsome and popular in the best society—caused no little stir in Minneapolis. It was at first believed that he had entered upon the skypear term of his sentence. In two days, followed his release. He barely escaped the convict's portion—hair cut, shave, bath and check suit.

Though not one of the higher officials

lowed his release. He barely escaped the convict's portion-hair cut, shave, bath and check suit.

Though not one of the higher officials involved, the interest at Minnehpolis centers largely in C. C. Norbeck, former detective, who is charged with soliciting and accepting bribes. When first arrested, his denial was sweeping and brazen-faced. But the inquiries of the Prosecuting Attorney forced him into a corner, and he saw that his position was a dangerous one. He trial had been called, when he suddenly disappeared. Lake Kratz and Murrell, he "skipped." But his discretion was not equal to that of either Kratz or Murrell. He was captured in the town of Chaska about twenty-five miles from Minneapolis.

When cantured Norbeck wore a cheap gray suit. There was $13.75 in his pockets, a gold watch and chain adorned his vest, and upon the fourth finger of his left hand gilstened a diamond ring, the weight of which is at least two carats. In each side pocket of his coat a pint bottle of whisky protruded, and under his right arm, wrapped in paper, he carried a quart bottle of whisky. One of his bondsmen, R. J. Hill, accompanied by William Baxter. C. D. Brown and William H. Brown arrived from Minneapol's and were at once shown by Sheriff August Johnson to Norbeck's cell.

He removed his old clothing in the store and donned the new suit. He then went to the salon of H Brinkhaus and displayed a large roll of bills, and spent several hours ordering drinks for every one about.

Trial of Captain King.

Trial of Captain King.

Norbeck is of great importance in the in-vestigation because he has turned out to be the principal informer. He considered that the "gang had trun him down." He was also repentant, and went before the Grand Jury several times after his capture. His full story, it is said, is not yet told, and indictments, while several have been made, have not yet been reported. It is said that his testimony has corroborated all that had previously been brought out and involved many other names. He proved marvel-lously accurate as to names and dates, and many other names. He proved marvellously accurate as to names and dates, and when it became known that he was giving State's evidence there was a marked nervousness among the city officials. It is admitted that, if he tells all, wholesale arrests will follow.

The trial of Captain "Norm" W. King, who had charge of a police district in Minneapons, next to the Norbeck case, has attained prominence. He is charged with being in league with confidence men, with accepting bribes from them. In particular it is alleged that he received, in lieu of getting a man released from fall, a very fine diamond, known as the "Hoper" stone.

"Billy" Edwards, who is known to be the friend of denizens of the thieving world, gave the most damaging testimony against King. He stated bluntly that he had negotiations with King for the release of a man named Adams, and that the diamond was to be the price. All attempts to shake his testimony on the part of King's counsel proved ineffective. He was as shrewd as the attorneys and several times made them ridiculous by his acute replies.

Mr. Welch, chief counsel for the defense, first took up the question of Edward's record. He elicited the fact that Edwards had been born in New York and had gone to San Francisco, when a boy, with his uncle and aunt.

"What were their names?" demanded the attorney.

"I don't know that its any of your business," retoried the witness.

"What were their names" came again insistently.

"I don't have to tell you."

Insistently.
"I don't have to tell you."
Mr. Welch appealed to 'Judge Simpson who declined to interfere, and the question who decinize to interest, and the questor was passed.

Mr. Welch produced a photograph.

"Is that your likeness?" he asked.

"It looks like me." Edwards admitted.

"I didn't ask you that. Is it your picture?"

"I don't know. It may be a snap shot taken of me here, this week, for all I know."
"Do you know where the Oregon State prison is located?"
"No, sir."
"What? Didn't you serve a term there for larcent?"

for larceny? for larceny?"
"No, sir; nor for anything else."
Mr. Welch smiled, sardonically, and passed on. The defense claims to be able to show that Edwards served a two-years' sentence in the Oregon institution; and say they will impeach him on other points as well.

"When did you begin swindling as a profession?" saked Mr. Welch.

"You did?"
"Yes, an. I agreed to give him 20 per cent for the privilege of swinding strangers, and he accepted the offer. Business was bad, however, and I didn't stay there long."
Mr. Weich sought to break down the story Edwards had told on his direct examination, but failed. He insignated that the witness had left town rather suddenly on one occasion and asked why.
"I left because I had some trouble in the Courthouse," Edwards retorted, "and King advised me to get out until the thing the Courthouse." Edwards retorted, "and King advised me to get out until the thing blew over."

The testimony of A. H. Hall, an at-torney, who defended the man Adams, charged with taking the "Hooper" dia-mond, was also serious for Captain King. Hall was on the stand last Tuesday morn-ing.

W. A. COOK, M. D.

The original Dr. Cook that others try to imitate. My treatment can only be had at my office. (Extablished Sickness in one way or another thwarts the loftiest aims of man, and the only panacea is to act as fair with yourself as you would with a piece of manchinery or a valuable horse.

Few men are really as strong and vigorous as they ought to be. Hard work or worry or the hustle of medern life is overtaxing the resources of many. Past indiscrettens or excesses and other private diseases have undermined the constitution of still others, and we cannot ignore circumstances or cheat nature by quietly submitting. A man should, however, be discrees enough in monitoed to correct the mistakes of his boyhood. False modesty should not now be enthroned on the shoulders of early mistakes and indiscretions. The young man who professes to have never erred musi certainly have enjoyed extraordinary environments and his disposition intrenched behind a strong force of circumstances; but, even then we must reserve a slight doubt. The past lives of us all are full of regrets and we can't afford to be blind to settled conditions.

Every man wishes to remain young and rightly so, but as the days, weeks and years go flitting by time acquaints us with ourselves unsupported by the counteracting influences of youthful vigor, and we find that thus stripped there is much need of prompt repair. Doctors who hang to what they learned 30 or 40 years ago never cure anybody and can't just understand that a thing or plan of treatment need not be bad simply because it is different to precedent.

Scientific lavestigation is a weary road, full of surprises and books, dig ditches or edit a paper, ring an auction bell or we funny things, you must work. Work gives an appetite for the lends solidity to your slumbers gives you a perfect and price appreciation of a holiday and the better satisfied will the webe with you. For more than 12 years I have been a hand zon in my specialty, and believe that this is why specialty all arms me find it necessary to change I coations almost every year. In my treatment of VARICOCELE, FISTULA, PH.58 is DROCELE, etc., I will refund every cent if I do not newled tures on permanent and complete that it is APPARENT TO ONE. If a Varicoccie is as large as a hen or george etc. I will refund every cent in the produce it and cure it entirely. In SEMINAL LOSS AN WEAK ORGANS I promise you results so prompt and not it that you will not need any one to point out the improvement short. I will give abstract results in every case, and a will memorandum to refund every cent paid if you are not put out.

WE SEE PEOPL

in the midst of the hustle and bustle of modern life apparently ou livious of everything except the day and hour in which they live.

With the springtime and summer upon them they do not realize that preparation for frost and snow should be made, and are wholly incapable of comprehending the graver realities of life. Matters of most serious import are allowed to pass unnoticed because there is no loud noise to attract their attention. Their thoughts preoccupied with current events and the hope of making a dollar, they present a reminder of the ant who toiled all summer at laying up a store of provisions for the winter, and the grasshopper who spent his time singing and dancing. Men are superior beings, though often act with minds inferior to the ant. They throw away their energies in youth, and neglect themselves in age as though they were machines that would never wear out or need repair. The owner of a blooded house worth $10,000 would have his food carefully inspected every meat, and attendants to sleep in his stall for fear of some accidental of intended damage. If the owner himself should be slightly indisp as d he would most likely try a free sample of something put upon the market by a man or company whom he had never heard of before, or go to some quack outfit whose glaring advertisements do not furnish the name of a single individual to which the patient may attach assponsibility. "With eyes to see they see not, and ears to hear, hear menorandum to refund every cent paid if you are not perfectly cured.

Not satisfied with the wide-open surgical operations for Varcocle, I sought a system or method of cure that would not be attended with the risk and pain of the radical surgical operation, and that would be absolutely sure and permanent in its results. It affords me satisfaction to say to you I can positively cure you, to stay cured, of Varicocele, Stricture or Piles, without pain or use of the kulfe, and In curing you of these diseases I completely remove all the various nervous conditions or reflex troubles that usually attend these diseases.

CONTACIOUS BLOOD POISON.

My special treatment for this disease is practically the result of my life work, is indorsed by the best physicians of America of my life work, is indorsed by the best physicians of America and Europe. It contains no dangerous drugs or injurious medicines of any kind. It goes to the very bettom of the disease and forces out every particle of impurity. Soon every sign and symptom disappear completely and forever. The blood, the tissue, the fiesh, the bones and the whole system is cleansed, purified and restored to pertect health, and the patient prepared anew for the duties and pleasures of life.

The best physicians and surgeons of the United States give me unlimited credit for my discoveries in medical science, and none can honestly deny I have cured the worst cases ever brought before any doctor. But they don't like the fact that I advertise in the newspapers, because it is in violation of the old-time code of ethics among doctors. At the same time, if I did not advertise, there would be but few people who would know that I could cure them. Such diseases are not the things men talk about, except to their doctors.

Why should I hesitate to let the great world of sufferers know that I can cure them?

I want to talk with the man who has tried other methods and found them unavailing. I want to talk with the man who has almost given up the hope of being cured. I can convince them by actual cures.

No honest man need go without the treatment that will effect his complete cure. I make a careful examination of every case, and all letters are answered by myself. Correspondence invited, I want each man to give a complete history of his care. I will gladly answer all inquiries in detail.

WISCONSIN PRESS ASSOCIATION REACHES ST. LOUIS IN THE RAIN.

Party Will See World's Fair City To-Day and Dine With Louisiana Purchase Officials - Going to Chicago To-Night to Disband-Prominent Wisconsin Editors Among the Excursionists.

MRS. M. P. RINDLAUB. Editor of the Plateville (Wis.) Witness. President of the Wisconsin Press Associa

the Wisconsin Press Association, on its annual outing, arrived in St. Louis, and was met at the Diamond Jo steamboat landing by a committee of World's Fair officials composed of W. A. Kelsoe, R. H. Sexton, W. M. Smith, John C. Lebers and Mark Bennett. There are sixty-five in the party. The rain kept them on the steamer Dubuque, which brought them from Rock Island, Ill., from 1 to 3 p. m., when backs were chartered, and they were driven to the Lindell Hotel.

The Wisconsin editors were expected yesterday morning and a programme had been arranged by the World's Fair people, but owing to their delay, it was necessary to after the plans, and instead of the sight-seeing and banqueting, which was to have been given them yesterday, they spent their first few hours resting up.

It has been arranged to give the visitors a car ride at 9:30 this morning, and a disner by the World Fair Association at the Administration huilding at noon. They will depart at 5 o'clock p. m. over the Chicago and Alten for Chicago, there to disband and return to their homes.

The delay of the association in reaching The delay of the association in reaching St. Louis is due to their late start from St. Paul, where they assembled Tuesday. The departure was made from that place Wednesday morning instead of Tuesday Bradenburg of Madison, one of the oldest Democratic editors of Wisconsin. He is now editor of the Madison Democrat. Adolph Candraia and wife and two daughters of La Crosse and Mrs. R. P. Rindlaub and daughter of Platteville are also among the party. Mr. Candrain is editor of the Abend Stern, one of the leading German papers of the State, and Mrs. Rindiauo '* editor of the Plattsville Witness, and wife of the former president of the association.

The Wisconsin Press Association is one of the oldest in America, having been organized away back in ante-bellum days. Edward L. Luckow, editor of the Baraboo Democrat, 19 president; O. F. Roessier, editor of the Jefferson Cannery Producer, secretary, and Mrs. Rindlaub is trearurer. The following is a complete list of the members of the society on the excursion: Ed. L. Luckow, Earaboo Democrat.

G. F. Roessier and daughter, Cannery Producer, Jefferson.

Miss Jessie Stephenbach, Jefferson Banner.

Mrs. M. P. Rindlaub and daughter, Platteville Winess.

CRASHII

Goes the crockery and the waitress will probably be called clumsy and careless. Her plea of sudden dizziness is not allowed. "What right has she to be dizzy?" they ask. Women who are suffering from diseases peculiarly feminine are liable to sudden dizziness and faintness, and it is only by curing the womanly disare subject that dizziness and other ills can be entirely relieved. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well It cures irregularity, dries disagree able, weakening able, weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. When these conditions are cured, backache, headache, dizziness, etc., are also cured.

etc., are also cured.

"I suffered for twelve years with female trouble," writes Mrs. Milton Grimes, of Adair, Adair Co., Iowa, "which brought on other diseases—heart trouble, Bright's disease, and at times would be nearly paralyzed. Had neuralgia of stomach. I can freely say your medicines (nine bottles in all, five of "Pavorite Prescription," four of "Golden Medical Discovery," and two vials of Dr. Pierce's Pellets), have cured me, I can work with comfort now, but before I would be tired all the time and have a dizzy headache, and my netwes would be all unstrung so I could not sleep. Now I can sleep and do a big day's work, something I had not done for over eleven years before."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the most desirable laxative for delicate
